

What are Higher and Degree Apprenticeships?

Higher and Degree Apprenticeships (HDAs) are a newer offer and a rapidly developing area. Like standard apprenticeships, they offer the opportunity to combine work and study, but students work towards qualifications at levels 4, 5, 6 and above.

As opposed to full-time HE study there are differences in the subjects that are offered, the number of places available and the application process (applications usually go through the employer, rather than the university).
